It can save your life.

Preventive services, like cancer screenings, can find problems before you have symptoms.

It can stop you from getting sick.

At times, preventive care can even keep health problems from developing altogether.

It can give you peace of mind.

Regular checkups give you the chance to share concerns and ask questions about your health and to get the support you deserve.

Preventive services help you stay healthy, detect health problems early, determine the most effective treatments, and prevent certain diseases. Preventive services include exams, vaccines, lab tests, and screenings. They also include programs for health monitoring, and counseling and education to help you take care of your own health.
